

Foreign Policy Decision Making

GVPT-388F

Study Politics in Cuba

Experience
Cuba .
Study
Politics.

GVPT388F

Fall 2019

This is a new course that combines lectures on campus in College Park with a study abroad component in Havana, Cuba.

- The lectures on campus will focus on different strategies for studying foreign policy decision making.
- The class will travel to Cuba to learn about several foreign policy events that shaped much of the foreign policy of the United States in this region.
- Financial aid and/or need-based scholarships may be available.

For permission to register or more course information, contact Dr. William Reed at wlr@umd.edu.